

Gonioscopy

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 12 November 2007

Gonioscopy is used to check if there is a narrow angle - and to evaluate the risk of developing angle closure glaucoma. Over 80% of patients have open angle glaucoma. Angle closure is commoner in certain races, moreso in those of Asian ancestry.