

What to expect during laser

Contributed by Administrator
Thursday, 15 November 2007
Last Updated Thursday, 15 November 2007

The treatment does not cause pain. You may see a green flash of light. The lens used on your eye may cause some redness, or some irritation after the procedure (although this is unlikely). Any irritation tends to be shortlived, and disappears after 24 hours.